In referring to certain persons talking about continuing the war in order to realize "wild plans of annexation," Delbrueck, the Prussian minister of the interior, replied: "While we are involved in such a war as this, we have but one thought, to terminate it in a way which will make its repetition impossible." Dr. Liebknecht, one of the Socialist leaders, said: "The masses are with us; the masses want peace."

MEDICAL SOCIETY BEGINS SESSION

CONVENTION CONTINUES THREE DAYS

MANY NOTABLE MEN WILL PRESENT SUBJECTS TO LARGE ASSEMBLAGE

(By Associated Press.)
SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—The meeting of the American Medical association which has been held in San Francisco during the past week, is to be followed by the annual meeting of the American Academy of Medicine, which opened today and will continue three days.

The Academy, founded 40 years ago, specializes in medical sociology, and takes up one topic each year for special discussion at its annual meeting. In accordance with the spirit of the time and the place of holding this year's meeting, the topic chosen has been "Medicine in Its Relationships to Commerce and Transportation." The subject is to be opened by Dr. Woods Hutchinson of New York, who in his presidential address will treat of the physician as a pioneer in the opening up of resources by medical investigation and discovery. The question of food products, how they can be transported safely and the character of the inspection which should be made of them, will receive attention in addresses of other speakers. The subject of quarantine in general and methods of preventing the importation of disease; the dangers in travel, and the hospital organization of the railroad system are all treated in a series of papers.

Among those contributing to these subjects are: Surgeon-General Blue of the United States public health service; Victor G. Heiser, director of health of the Philippine islands; C. E. Hopkins, chief surgeon of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad; Dr. George Deltwig of the United States department of agriculture; W. A. Sawyer, director of the hygienic laboratory of the state board of health of California; Frederick L. Hoffman, chief statistician of the Prudential Insurance company, and others. A noteworthy feature of the meeting will be the annual address before the Academy, this year to be delivered by Chancellor David Starr Jordan of the Leland Stanford Jr. university, upon "The Relation of Medicine to the Peace Movement."

VAGRANTS DISAPPEAR AS RESULT OF WAR

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, June 25.—The war has brought what might be described as a tramp era in England. There is not a workhouse in the United Kingdom that has not reported a great decrease in the number of vagrants during the past few months. Those who still use the "casual wards" are men of sixty years or over. Officials say there are practically no young or middle aged vagrants left.

counts of fighting along the Dniester agree with those of the Russians as to the desperateness of the struggle in that part of Galicia. The Teutonic version, however, admits retrogression only at one point, stating that superior counter attacks by the Russians at Martinow caused a portion of General Von Linsingen's troops to be withdrawn toward the Dniester. Latest reports from France show a resumption of extreme activity on the heights of the Meuse where the French tell of violent German attacks. Both sides claim advances.

ARTIST INSTRUCTING CRIPPLED SOLDIERS

(By Associated Press.)
BERLIN, June 24.—One of the most useful officials now assisting and teaching crippled soldiers is the well-known artist, Unthan, who was born without arms, but who nevertheless has become a remarkable violin player, a painter and an expert swimmer. Unthan is a firm believer in swimming as an aid to the physique of the crippled, and maintains that arms are really a hindrance rather than a help in the water. He recently lectured to a group of persons interested in caring for crippled soldiers, and then gave an exhibition of his remarkable armless swimming. He is being pointed out as an example of courage and independence to be followed by the German soldiers invalided back home.

which have delayed its advance, according to a dispatch. Foreign chancelleries interested in Mexico have been given to understand that the president will determine some action in line with his recent statement to Mexico after he returns from Cornish in July.

GETTING BUSY IN ALL DEPARTMENTS

PREPARATIONS FOR THE CELEBRATION

FOURTH OF JULY WILL BE OBSERVED IN TONOPAH ON A GRAND SCALE

No meetings of the general committee of the Fourth of July celebration have been held since Monday evening, but all the sub-committees are hard at work along their respective lines and when the executive committee meets again on next Monday evening in the club room at the Mirpah, reports will be received from each of the sub-committees and the celebration plans will then be complete, with mere details to be later arranged.

Owing to the large number of attractions it will be impossible to crowd everything into one day, or even two. The celebration will start Saturday evening, July 3, with a band concert, followed by the Western Federation dance in Miners' Union hall.

Sunday will not by any means be a day of rest. There will be little happening in the forenoon, but in the afternoon there will be athletic sports followed by patriotic exercises in the Airdome. Senator Pittman will be the orator of the day. Senator Bell will read an original poem and there will, of course, be the reading of the Declaration of Independence, together with patriotic music. The exercises promise to be of exceptional interest. The illuminations and band music Sunday evening will conclude with a magnificent display of fireworks. There will be more races Monday, including horse, human and hose. The patriotic parade promises to be a beauty. In the afternoon what will be considered by many to be the principal event of the celebration, the first aid and mine rescue contest. The boxing carnival in the Airdome will be a splendid drawing card and two good battles may be looked forward to. In the evening Count Desvar will marshal his forces for a gigantic and humorous mardi gras parade, after which there will be a free costume ball to conclude the celebration.

While the crew coaches and officials are non-committal, it is known that both universities believe that they have the best varsity eight of recent years and while none of those in authority care to claim victory in advance, they state freely and emphatically that the other oarsmen will know that they have been in a real contest before the finish is reached. This is taken to indicate that both coaches and strokes have planned for a high speed race from start to finish in the hope of killing off the rival crew before the final half mile mark is passed.

HARVARD AND YALE ON COURSE TODAY

BOTH TEAMS CONFIDENT OF WINNING THE INTERCOLLEGIATE BOAT RACE

(By Associated Press.)
NEW LONDON, Conn., June 25.—The varsity eight-oared crews of Harvard and Yale universities meet on the Thames river course here today in their dual forty-ninth regatta. Both institutions send undefeated combinations to the starting line to represent them in one of the classic college competitions of the year. The oarsmen hailing from New Haven and Cambridge have passed through a most successful preliminary racing season and as a result of their showing a thrilling four-mile race is expected by those who have followed the works of the eights all spring.

There is unusual keenness for victory evinced at the training camps of both universities since Yale is anxious to continue her supremacy on the water as demonstrated last year while Harvard desires to renew the string of victories broken by the Elis' sensational finish of twelve months ago. With the expectation that another shell lapping race, similar to that of 1914, will mark the annual regatta of the Blue and Crimson, thousands of undergraduates and alumni are gathering here and a record throng of spectators will be present for the regatta.

MOBILIZATION OF DOCTORS PLANNED

DRAFTS FOR WAR MAKE IT ADVISABLE

DIFFICULTY IN ARRANGING FOR BOTH MILITARY AND CIVIL WORK

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, June 25.—A "mobilization" of all the doctors in England is being talked of here. The dearth of qualified physicians and surgeons, owing to the large numbers taken for war work, has reached such a stage that officers of the medical council believe that some sort of an organization of the profession on a war footing will be necessary, especially as the public health is at the present moment a matter of special importance.

The question of rearranging the work of the doctors to meet both the military and civil demands is admittedly a difficult one. Neither doctors nor patients are likely to be pleased with any possible method of dividing up medical work along what might perhaps be called "efficiency" lines.

Many physicians, especially in the crowded parts of the cities, are already as busy as they can be, and probably in these cases a readjustment would be advisable, but there are large numbers of practitioners in the suburban and country districts who could be advantageously placed in sections where special need is felt. If this involves heavy loss to them, it may be possible to arrange for government compensation.
